Foreword

We have endeavored in the pages of this volume to picture to you the pilgrimage we have enjoyed in Southwestern. Our goal here is our graduation; after that we enter upon a newer pilgrimage, lasting until we reach the City of God. May God ever inspire us to go on until that goal is reached.

THE STAFF.
Dedication

To Mother Bamford, the Spirit of Southwestern, the one who shares our joys and sorrows, the character undescribably noble and yielded to God, whole-heartedly loved by all as a real mother — to Mother, we, the staff, humbly dedicate this volume.

The CARAVAN SERAI
Caravanserai

Picture a typical Arabian city with its turreted walls and many embattlements.

Inside the gates may be seen a beehive of action with many turbaned figures carrying burdens to the kneeling camels outside. Soon all is ready and the camels are slowly wending their way across the desert in the early morning sunlight.
Main Building

The main floor of the administration building includes the library, classrooms, the typing room, and the president’s office. Peeping into the office we see the form of our dear president bent over his desk, busily engaged with correspondence. Here are letters from eager young people, inquiring about the school and asking for spiritual advice. About him we see files, students’ pictures, and bookcases. In the typing room are mimeographs, typewriters, and hundreds of pages of notes.

The girls’ dormitories are on the second floor, housing about 70 happy, consecrated girls, who spend months of fellowship together under its roof. Then there is Mother Bamford’s room. No one will ever know the secrets enclosed within its walls. Broken hearts have been mended, burdens lifted, and young lives encouraged as students have gone to Mother Bamford with their sorrows and joys.

As to architectural style and beauty, the red brick building would not be highly esteemed, yet it holds a place in the hearts of Southwestern students that nothing else could fill. Brick upon brick stand as silent sentinels to consecrations made, joys experienced, life friendships formed, and the exemplary lives of the caravans of students which have gone before. Here our caravan stops for awhile, but soon we must pass on, and, passing on, we salute the building which holds for each pilgrim precious memories.
Boys’ Dormitory

Across the campus from the Administration Building is the Boys’ Dormitory. The living quarters in reality do not occupy the entire floor space, for the kitchen and dining room are located in the rear of the building. As this dormitory, housing thirty-six young men, does not accommodate all enrolled, another has been provided, known as the Maple Street Dormitory.

Southwestern is not only a school, but also a home. This phase of school life plays an important part in the training of ministers, missionaries, and Christian workers. Here joys and sorrows are shared as friendships of lasting character are formed. Regular habits of prayer and study are formed and life becomes quite balanced. Our prayer periods are considered as the stones in the foundations of sturdy Christian characters, built by the teaching of competent instructors.

The central section of the building provides rooms for some of our teachers, Brother and Sister McCafferty, and Brother and Sister Davidson. Not only have their counsel and guidance benefited the boys, but their example and influence have been of untold value to them.

Definite duties are assigned to each boy, that each may share alike in the responsibility of making his home attractive and clean.

Dear to the heart of each boy is the little building where he has lived while in Southwestern.
Dining Room

![Dining Room Image]

Strength for the pilgrimage must be derived not only from spiritual, but also from natural sources. We are grateful for the good food God provides for us, and for the appetizing manner in which it is prepared. The Lord, bountifully supplying our tables with wholesome meals, has never permitted them to be bare. It is the custom for students to enter the dining room to the strains of a soul-inspiring song. After thanking the Lord, they enjoy a nourishing breakfast, and become further strengthened by Bible verses and prayer.

Perhaps the most pleasant meal of the day is the noon meal, which is served in the regular old English style. We enjoy our food and quiet conversation, assembled around our home-like tables. Supper concludes our busy day. Lest ye forget, our most famous meal is on Saturday night when we have chili. (Boys have always been noted for their capacity in eating, but you should see some of our girls on that night!) The holy hush of the Sabbath pervades the dining hall as students partake of their delicious meals. Somehow, even the tables, with fresh linens and sparkling glassware, seem to reflect the presence of God.

Sometimes students forget food as God sends the Holy Spirit in mighty power, baptizing some in the Holy Spirit, bestowing foreign calls upon others as all rejoice, partaking of heavenly manna.
Library

BOOKS

The Bible contains God's message to men, His will and purpose for them. Lord Bacon said, "Truth from any other source is like water from a cistern, but truth drawn out of the Bible is like drinking water from the fountain immediately whence it springeth." The Bible, the most important book at Southwestern, makes straight the pilgrimage of life for each individual. In the Southwestern library, students may read the Bible in over twenty-three English versions, and more than fifteen other languages.

"All that men have been, thought, done, gained, or hoped, is lying as in magic preservation in the pages of books." Every book worth reading should contain only thoughts that will inspire and ennoble character. True books are as difficult to find as true men, but in our library there are approximately 6,000 books which contain the best thoughts of the world's greatest writers, books that have been carefully chosen and evaluated by the President and Faculty.

In this library students may travel around the world, visiting with the most profound thinkers among men—historians, explorers, scientists, biographers, philosophers, statesmen, poets, reformers, missionaries, preachers of all ages, and of all lands, and may claim as their own the most worthwhile creations of human genius. The choicest of the best has been provided by the hand of God. "A collection of books makes a real university."
Reis

Out in front of the caravan may be seen the reis with their camels, gorgeously arrayed in bright hued tassels. One, an elderly man, seems to lead the way and his eye, full of many years of experience, carefully scans the horizon. The caravan following behind trusts explicitly these tried guides.

Miss Thelma Kelley, a pioneer student of Southwestern, is now its bookkeeper. Her loyalty has been demonstrated by her consecrated life and efficient service. She is a faithful friend to both teachers and students, cheerfully assisting them in many practical ways. Under the strain of much responsibility and hard work her disposition remains cheerful and pleasant, which has won the admiration of all true Southwesterners.
The Nelson Family

DADDY NELSON

We, as students of Southwestern Bible School, feel especially thankful to God for our beloved president and his family. We have walking along with us those to whom we may look for guidance and help. Their lives truly are examples to all of us.

The untiring zeal and ceaseless ambition of our dear president is manifested in his care for the students. Many nights one may look across the campus and see a light burning brightly in the office, long after others are asleep. It is our own "Daddy" Nelson, studying and working for the betterment of the school. His rock-like character with its great humility makes us think of the Apostle Peter, and serves as a goal that we in our lives strive to gain.

Our dear Sister Nelson is a woman given to a life of prayer. Many hours each day are devoted to this purpose, and students may come to her with requests, knowing she will faithfully pray with them. God's blessings are on her life in a marvelous way. Many times she testifies to wonderful answers to prayer.

Paul Nelson has served faithfully in the mimeographing department, where he has the oversight of the production of the many hundred pages of notes used by the students. Always patient and kind, Paul is loved and appreciated by all who know him.
Lives of great men all remind us
    We can make our lives sublime,
And, departing, leave behind us
    Footprints on the sands of time.

Footprints, that perhaps another,
    Sailing o'er life's solemn main,
A forlorn and shipwrecked brother,
    Seeing, shall take heart again.

Let us, then, be up and doing,
    With a heart for any fate;
Still achieving, still pursuing,
    Learn to labor and to wait.
Rikh

The caravan itself seems to be in three main groups, all in single file. To the two leading groups this is not a new experience, but the last group of pilgrims have never been on a journey of this kind before. Some of the Reis are riding along with them to help them, and so the caravan journeys along.

MOTTO

"Redeemed, Ever to be True."

COLORS

Purple and Gold.
Seniors

ROBERT BENEDICT, Kansas City, Kansas

"Praise Him with the sound of the trumpet."

Although Bob is a quiet chap, he contributes his part to the class. Never to be forgotten is that famous "trumpet trio" of which he is a member. We are confident that God's blessing shall follow him wherever he may go.

ANN BENEFIEL, Loveland, Colorado

"Better is a little with righteousness."

Ann, tho' small, holds a large place in our hearts. She is outstanding for her dynamic personality—a very expressive little person. We'll never forget her song, "When He Smiles on Me."

TREASURE BRYAN, Enid, Oklahoma

"Mine eyes shall be upon the faithful."

"Which one are you?"—the inevitable question put to twins. Treasure has worked diligently, and we feel that she deserves the place she holds in our class.

TRESSIE BRYAN, Enid, Oklahoma

"Give her of the fruit of her hands and let her own works praise her."

"I'm the other one," answers Tressie, good naturally. We have learned to appreciate her domestic ability this year. Like her twin, we must say she has been faithful.
Seniors

THURMAN BEDELL, Garber, Okla.

"Much study is a weariness of the flesh."

Easy come, easy go, but we all seem to like him so. Through adversity Thurman has proved himself to be a real man and capable of bearing responsibility. Big-hearted and sincere, he is always willing to lend a helping hand.

EDWIN BURRIS, Russellville, Ark.

"The lips of wisdom are a precious jewel."

Of versatile ability, we feel that Edwin is almost indispensable to our class. Many and varied are his talents, which are directed into a channel of usefulness and blessing. We appreciate to the fullest extent his efficient editing of the annual.

HATTIE COFFEE, Okmulgee, Okla.

"The Lord thy God is with thee whithersoever thou goest."

Our class secretary has been a blessing to us in many ways. Let come what may, Hattie is always cheerful and pleasant. Her whole-hearted spirit will undoubtedly merit God’s blessing in her future ministry.

M. L. DAVIDSON, Caldwell, Kansas

"A word fitly spoken is like apples of gold in pictures of silver."

Dare we call him the silver-tongued orator—this promising young man from Kansas? Much could be said about our class president, but we deem it best to sum it all up by saying, "A bright future awaits him."
Seniors

CORDELIA DONNELL, Guthrie, Okla.
"My mouth shall speak the praise of the Lord."

Cordeila is a friendly type of person, indeed, if one is able to peer into her heart. She has a kind consideration of others and is always willing to pray. This Oklahoma girl is one of our licensed preachers.

VERA DRAPER, Lincoln, Nebr.
"Ethiopia shall soon stretch out her hands unto God."

Vera's exemplary life and untiring zeal as missionary president have been a real inspiration to us. Industrious and studious, she is an outstanding member of our class. We are confident that before long Vera will be in Africa where her heart is.

GERTRUDE DUDTE, Newton, Kans.
"The memory of the just is blessed."

Gertrude's talents are varied but all yielded to God. She has served faithfully as commercial teacher, missionary secretary and monitor. Her musical and literary ability has proved a real blessing. Gertrude will leave a vacancy that will be hard to fill.

MONA EDWARDS, Kansas City, Kans.
"Then said I, Here am I, send me."

For two years Mona has been the faithful leader of the India group. Whatever she undertakes, she does thoroughly and well, which has been demonstrated by her service as work monitor and Mother's assistant-secretary. Mona is very zealous for the Lord and we trust she shall have a fruitful ministry.
Seniors

BERNADINE ESTES, Fayette, Mo.

"All things are possible to him that believeth."

We call Bernadine our "Faith" girl, because she affirms "God will do it," and so it comes to pass. Soon after her graduation she expects to go to China, and we trust God's blessing will rest upon her there as it has here.

LOTTIE LEE FLOWERS, Fayetteville, Ark.

"How much better is it to get wisdom than gold."

Lottie Lee is one of the outstanding scholars of our class, and has proved her efficiency in the role of Librarian and teacher of Greek. God has called her to Palestine to labor among His chosen people.

LAWRENCE FRANCIS, Kansas City, Kans.

"He that is steadfast in righteousness shall attain unto Life."

Lawrence is a young man of dignified bearing, always conducting himself as a prince and seeking the finer things of life. His steadiness and consistency well qualify him for the work that the Lord has called him to do.

ELIZABETH GALLEY, Dallas, Texas.

"Go forth to them that are in darkness."

The assistant editor of the annual looks forward to laboring for the Lord in China. Her ways among us are singular, but we learn her true value as we grow to know her better. Elizabeth is faithful in all things, and we know she will have great success in the foreign field.

Dear Dr. McCaffery,

I shall always remember you as our Teacher who both taught and lived a life of Holiness. May God continue to use you and to bless your ministry.

Lottie Lee Flowers
Seniors

HOLLIS GALLEY, Newton, Kans.

"Thou hast blessed the works of his hands."

Brother Galley’s ability as an electrician and photographer has been very helpful to our class. Those of the annual staff have found him a willing worker, cooperating in every detail. His faith in surmounting all difficulties is commendable.

MARGARET GALLEY, Newton, Kans.

"Very pleasant hast thou been to us."

Margaret’s cheerful and optimistic manner has been a help to us at all times. In spite of adversity she has been a faithful worker, and her loyalty to her family and to her God is worthy of praise. We trust that her life will be a blessing to many.

VERA HADLEY, Arkansas City, Kans.

"And the maid was fair and beautiful."

Our little “gypsy” queen—a girl of deeds and not of words, although Vera has been somewhat forced to work as class editor. Her quiet, sweet disposition has won for her a place in the heart of each of her classmates.

GLEN HAMILTON, Enid, Okla.

"I will sing unto the Lord a new song."

Glen has proved his leadership this year as president of the local C. A.’s. He has made much progress and has shown himself a real scholar by his interest in Greek and Doctrine. He is another member of our class whose singing we enjoy.
Seniors

IONA HAMSHER, Parsons, Kans.

"My heart's desire and prayer to God for Israel is that they might be saved."

We have many pleasant memories in connection with Iona's service as Mother's secretary and Jewish group leader. How can we further describe her—energetic, cheerful, sympathetic, intelligent—but we will dispense with it all by saying, we regard her highly as a girl of real Christian character.

BEULAH HINDERLITER, Cleveland, Kans.

"Pleasant words are as a honeycomb, sweet to the soul and health to the bones."

This little maid, neat and bright,
Joined our class with a heart contrite.
With words that are soothing, gentle and low,
She proves to all that Christ she doth know.

CHARLES HIRSCHY, Little Rock, Ark.

"A wise son maketh a glad father."

A firm, positive nature characterizes Bro. Hirschy. We have learned that when convinced, he becomes very enthusiastic. Thus we believe he will make a real worker for God in Alaska, the land of his calling.

GLADYS HOYER, Enid, Okla.

"She is more precious than rubies."

Our pastor's daughter—quite a place to fill; yet how sweetly and graciously she sets the example before us. Her arrangement of the Sunday afternoon radio programs, and her assistance in the C. A. services has been greatly appreciated by all.
Seniors

ONA FAYE IKER, Sapulpa, Okla.

"A merry heart maketh a cheerful countenance."

A friendly disposition has won her a place in many hearts. Among Ona Fay’s talents is her ability to sing and to play the violin. Her dimpled, sunny smiles, and rippling laughter will long be remembered.

ANDREW KIMES, Kansas City, Kans.

"Happy am I."

Andy has a peculiar sense of humor which has helped to brighten life at Southwestern. However, he is very reliable and can be depended upon in a crisis. A steady, even temper has gained for him much admiration. A valuable addition to the orchestra is his violin.

RUBY KING, Bucklin, Mo.

"The king’s daughter is all glorious within."

She’s the only ‘king’ in our class, but not in the sense of authority. When the blessing comes down, she wears a crown and is not to be found in the minority. Ruby has been a real blessing to each of us.

EVALYN KRAUSE, Hutchinson, Kans.

"Behold, I have refined thee."

Having intelligence and talent, Evalyn is our ideal school girl. Her interests are extensive and her achievements are many. She gives whole-hearted cooperation to every undertaking. Ask Evie about Greek!
Seniors

RALPH LOTRIDGE, Morland, Kans.

"I am appointed a preacher."

"Praise the Lord." Immediately we recognize Ralph's voice. Even though the storm beats in fury upon him, he still has a note of praise. Let come what may, Ralph is determined to move forward with God.

Ralph Lotridge

MRS. NANCY MACK, Brown Branch, Mo.

"My tongue also shall talk of thy righteousness all the day long."

Unceasingly proclaiming the goodness and mercies of God, Mrs. Mack has been a faithful member of our class. Practical in her views, she has given us good advice. Her work among the children of Enid will be of eternal value.

RUBY MANGOLD, Enid, Okla.

"In thee, O Lord, do I put my trust."

Bring your microscope, we must find Ruby before she is lost from our view. Nevertheless, "rubies" are of much value and not to be found every day. Do we hear Bro. Mangold say, "A-men"?

MARIAN MANGOLD, Enid, Okla.

"Serve the Lord with gladness."

We all love Bro. Mangold because of his deep humility and consecration. We feel that the Lord is preparing the Mangolds for His work in China by giving them a real ministry in the Enid Gospel Tabernacle. His kindness in particular has endeared him to the senior class as well as to the Sunday School children.
Seniors

ETHEL MARTIN, Enid, Okla.

"Thou anointest mine head with oil, my cup runneth over."

Enthusiastic and ambitious, Ethel, like an artesian well, bubbles over with the joy of salvation. She has a striking, forceful personality, and is outstanding for her adoration and praise to the Lord. She is another one of our seven seniors called to China.

EVA MARRIEL, Levy, Ark.

"For it is better, if the will of God be so."

This scripture is fitting to Eva’s consecration which contributes to the spirituality of our class. God has already given her souls, and she is one of our licensed ministers. In regard to Eva we may say, “Still water runs deep.”

VIRGINIA McBRIDE, Kewanee, Ill.

"Her ways are ways of pleasantness."

Her smile is like sunshine after the showers—It brightens all the gloomy hours.

As modest and retiring as a violet, Virginia’s life has the pure sweet fragrance that only comes from communion with God. Her amiability in Mother’s work last year revealed the loveliness of her character.

BILLIE McINTOSH, Dyersburg, Tenn.

"I have preached righteousness in the great congregation."

Appropriating our instruction in Pastoral Theology, Billie has begun both “to do and to teach” holiness. His sterling character and tender heart have qualified him in the art of soul-winning. We trust that God will always keep him the humble, consecrated evangelist he now is.
Seniors

MARTHA McLEAN, Grand Junction, Colo.

"Hear, for I will speak excellent things."

Entering our second year, Martha has been a valuable asset to our class. We all admire her for her unwavering faith and dauntless courage. Perhaps the greatest tribute we can pay her is to say that she has ability to pray souls through to victory.

HOPE PRIDE, Tulsa, Okla.

"A merry heart doeth good."

"Little but mighty"—"Hopie"—has been a real asset to our class. Her air of concern and friendliness has gained the confidence of many. Her constant chatter often adds "spice" to an otherwise lengthy class period. In spite of all difficulties we are glad we still have "Hope."

LA VETA RAINDS, Caldwell, Kans.

"I will behave myself wisely, in a perfect way."

To think her retiring and sophisticated is not to know the real La Veta. Her gentle, patient disposition is as constant as the placid waters of an untroubled sea. Discrimination is the soul of her ambition. The aspiration of her heart will be fully realized when once her foot has touched Korean soil.

HUBERT ROBINSON, Fort Worth, Texas

"He knoweth the way that I take."

As a business man, he is outstanding for his craftiness. Due to this outstanding ability, he was obliged to assume the office of Business Manager for the annual. Accustomed to facing facts, he has developed a deep sense of appreciation for reality.
Seniors

CLIFFORD SEAMAN, Waynoka, Okla.

"Through God ye shall do valiantly."

In Clifford has been discovered the quality of insight and perception. We are sure this outstanding trait of character can be used by the Lord in winning souls. His assistance in the China group has been greatly appreciated.

MAE SMITH, Elkland, Mo.

"Lord, all my desire is before thee."

Many times our true Christian character is revealed in our countenance and lives more than in great and eminent deeds. Mae's gentle, quiet spirit has been as a soothing ointment poured upon buffeted and turbulent souls.

ANNABEL SMITH, Nowata, Okla.

"In all labour there is profit."

Working her way through school, Annabel has proved her diligence and industry. Hidden within the deep recess of her soul lies a poetical impulse that must be given expression. We are grateful for her willing service and are sure Annabel will be remembered when the Lord rewards the faithful.

MARGARET WILLIAMS, Pratt, Kans.

"I delight to do thy will."

Although quiet, demure and shy in all her ways, yet Margaret possesses a spirit of cheerful optimism. She was not an original member of our class, but we have learned to appreciate her among us. God will surely bless her yield-edness to Him.
Seniors

OPAL WILSON, Covington, Okla.

"Better it is to be of an humble spirit."

We consider Opal as a gem of great price. Although not forward in spirit she always has a smile and cheery greeting to all. In testimony fervent; in example, consistent; and in duty, conscientious.

DOUGLAS WOOD, Waterloo, Iowa

"Make sweet melodies, sing many songs."

Iowa not only produces tall corn, but also tall boys. His personality fascinates you with its tenacious grip. His appreciation of music reaches to the highest degree as shown in his musical ability. We shall never forget "Precious Memories."

ARLINE WOODRIDGE, Tulsa, Okla.

"Behold, I have made thee small."

Arlene is our little miss from Tulsa. Although quite small she moves with astonishing rapidity, especially in the dining room. She has a charming personality and a character of unimpeachable qualities.
Pilgrimage of the Seniors

With great anticipations we seniors mount our camels for the third and last time and lead the way in another pilgrimage through Southwestern. But there remains with it all a certain joy in knowing that we are the leading caravan. As we realize our responsibility, a spirit of humility pervades our class.

When we left the Caravanserai our first year we were full of enthusiasm, but the weariness in traveling long distances has let us become more settled as we comprehend and take on more responsibilities. Although rugged and long seemed the road at the beginning of our pilgrimage, now the days have swiftly passed and soon our journey will end.

Our destination, you ask? — The night when we come to the end of our school life, unload the responsibilities of this pilgrimage and prepare to begin another phase of a greater pilgrimage, lasting until we enter the gates of Heaven. This journey has been short but of immense value, preparing us for the hardships of the greater journey where many storms will assail and the oases are few and far between.

For a number of us this pilgrimage has been hard. At times the storms would rage until we could scarcely see our way. Then our journey was by faith, when we prodded our camels on. But now our hearts with ever-increasing joy have begun to fully realize the outcome of our struggles. In our number there are fourteen active ministers, eighteen prospective missionaries to seven different fields—all summed up in the seventh graduating class—the class of '36.
PILGRIMAGE OF THE JUNIORS

The camels are stomping; they breathe hard and lurch forward. The morning air fans our cheeks as we hurry here and there, loading our equipment. We greet old friends, having not seen some of them since our last journey, and this meeting brings to our minds precious memories. At last everything is ready, and at the sound of the trumpet we are off on our second trip. We are confident of our pilgrimage through this year because of our leaders, made up of our beloved faculty. From day to day we meet with new adventures, new scenes spread before us at the crest of each successive sand dune. New problems are to be solved, but we find that with each difficulty thirty-three conquered we are stronger to face the future. At times it gets dry and dusty, and we become very thirsty. Then it is that we have to pray to our Father to meet our needs and with unbounding grace and favor He shows us an oasis just ahead. Here we kneel and drink our fill, then with victorious shouts of joy and blessings we start on again.

We, the class of '37 with fifty odd members has elected Moran Annear as our president and Ruby Copeland as our secretary. We realize that next year we will have to be the leaders on this pilgrimage and therefore are preparing ourselves, and observing closely those in the caravan ahead. By God's grace we say we will be able to take the lead soon.
FOURTH ROW—Frank Wallace, Wilfred Primrose, Jake Troyer, Everett Wells, Vernald Landin, Raymond Wahl.

Those not in picture—Alvoy Kersey, Vivian Rhodes, Louise Harper.

The real spiritual tide of this pilgrimage of Southwestern lies to a large extent in our hands. The caravan following us is just becoming accustomed to their environments while the leading caravan is absorbed in future pilgrimages, etc. Therefore our walk with the Master must be deeper every day.

As we near the end of the second lap of our journey it is with grateful hearts that we thank our great guide for His care and guidance, and with eager, longing eyes we scan the goal we expect to reach in the future.
FIRST ROW—Left to Right—Estella Bouse, Claudia Dunn, Grace Bogan, Mary Doom, Lavone Burnett, Dorothy Cec, Virginia Addington.

PILGRIMAGE OF THE FRESHMEN

A caravan is preparing for a journey, long lines of camels sway and mill around restlessly, eager to be off. No less eager for the trip is an enthusiastic group of young people. Their faces are shining, their eyes sparkling, as with willing hands they load the camels with the things necessary for the journey. Books, clothes and musical instruments of all kinds are being packed, for on this journey we have music and singing as praises overflow to our Lord from happy hearts. Greetings echo here and there. In the midst of this stir and bustle we hear many Hallelujahs and praises to God. Suddenly the clear call of the bugle floats out upon the morning air and the class of '38 is off for a wonderful trip.

Traveling through this year has been a long hard journey. Especially did it seem rough because we had never traveled along in this manner before, everything was new and different and it took us quite a while to become adapted to our new life. After a bit we did not mind the bumps and jolts so engrossed did we become in our new surroundings. It was more wonderful than we had anticipated.
SECOND ROW—Mae Ninemire, Mrs. Ella Nicoll, Cora Musick, Bonnie McClellan, Violet Lawrence, Tabitha Primrose, Lola Klingensmith, Lois Nelund.
FOURTH ROW—Walter Lewis, Clyde King, Claude Kendrick, Donald Herrick, Darrel Kealhey.

Our company is not a small one; approximately we number 120—just the number which brings to our memory the Day of Pentecost. Indeed we feel quite honored to have a class of such a number, and we can also say because of our earnestness, our sincerity, and enthusiasm God has favored us by pouring out the Holy Spirit upon us.

One lap of our journey will soon be completed. Ahead in the distance we discern the second year caravan, and still farther on just over the horizon...
FIRST ROW, Left to Right—Myrtle Wolford, Emma Sappington, Edrie Steger, Le Vean Smith, Inez Roberts, Helen Voith, Dorothy Wilson, Helen Sample.
SECOND ROW—Avis Reynolds, Marie Voith, Deolas Rhyne, Wanda Faye Wells, Beulah Sloan, Elsie Williams, Gladys Reichwein.
THIRD ROW—Carl Parsons, Dorothy Wells, Lucille Hickman, Louise Young, Vernice Stephenson, Francis Syria, Leota Rains.

Those not appearing in the picture—La Verne Beighley, Kathleen Bowman, Evelyn Bryant, Claude Adkinson, Lucille Hickman, Mary Jackson, Josia Janzen, Truby Hamilton.

the third year caravan. Their number is somewhat smaller, but as we journey along, "Redeemed! Redeemed!" floats back to us from the first caravan and praises and shouts of victory swell from the second as we lean forward, forgetting the bumps. Our hearts are all aglow with praise and thankfulness that we have come thus far, and we are encouraged to press on until we have reached our destination, because we feel it is worth every effort put forth to be able to finish our journey in glorious victory.
IN MEMORIAM

Arlie L. Beggs

It was with deepest sorrow that Southwestern Bible School learned of the death of one of its former students, Arlie Beggs. This young man from Texas was loved by all who knew him. Although he has passed on, his spirit of humbleness and sincerity will live on.

"Except a grain of wheat fall into the ground and die, it abideth alone: but if it die, it bringeth forth much fruit."—John 12:24.
Music

Now and then a pilgrim gets his lute in tune and strains of music may be heard floating through the intense heat. Now and then the whole Rikh joins in on some refrain. What kind of music is this? Verily it is the joyful outpouring of the pilgrim's soul to his God.

Southwestern is a school with a musical heart. We thank God for the opportunities afforded us in the advancement of musical training. Music is considered to be an important phase of Christian life and can be effectively used toward the winning of souls.

Our supervisor over this department is Mother Bamford. She deserves much of the credit for the success and reputation of the school in its musical activities.

Brother Harold S. Miles, our vocal and instrumental instructor, has charge of the regular orchestra and choir rehearsals, as well as conducting special classes in stringed, brass, and reed instruments. His proficiency serves to inspire us to greater study of this delightful art.

Our instructor in piano, Mrs. James G. Mayo, not only has unusual ability herself, but has the efficiency of teaching others to improve their God-given talents. This phase of Christian service is very important, and we are fortunate to have such an able instructor.

Music

Music! Ah, there is no earthly word on any tongue more pleasingly significant! The first vibrations bring a wonderful quietness to my soul. As I continue listening, this quietness gives way to an intensive throbbing which stirs my mind and soul as the lashing gale stirs the ocean. — A feeling that insulst the tempest and outstorms the skies. It is the language common to rich and poor, the ground where sorrow and joy stand in mutual friendship. It is the power that can stir the soul of man when all else fails. It has laid hold upon my innermost being and now the overflowings of my full heart are these: Shall I laugh? Shall I cry? Must I repress the feeling that I ought to shout or clap my hands or burst forth in fervent praise to God? To what am I listening? It is the echo of His voice! From heaven it floats on silvery wings, a mystic, formless, spirit, and filters into the human heart. O Music, thou hast all the arts of fine persuasion! Yet with a sweet violence thou dost pierce into the heart and affections and come immediately from heaven. Lord, by its power I am brought to the hem of that seamless robe! Let the walls echo with music that would be the echo of heaven. Why not the human voice more? Why not every instrument more?

Music — It stirs man's soul, urges him on with burning zeal to certain victory in life. It quells his fears, and in the midst of strife and turmoil brings peace flowing like a lazy river over the restless spirit. It speaks to him of a vast beyond, a land where dreams come true, and pours forth its melodies laden with precious, priceless memories of days that used to be.
Missions

Out in the distance another caravan is seen approaching. Soon it is hailed and members of the caravan leave their camels and meet the strangers on foot, telling them of a strange Person who gave His life for them. Many are seen kneeling as in prayer, but soon, with joyful faces they go their way.
Student Missionary Band

An outstanding feature of Southwestern Bible School is the activity of the Student Missionary Band, created to maintain and stimulate missionary interest.

The staff consists of the president, who supervises activities; the vice-president, who assists the president; the secretary-treasurer, who has charge of records and finances; and two procurators, who secure literature for the purpose of assisting those appointed to lead the noon prayers. An added feature has been a missionary literature rack conveniently placed in the library for the perusal of students, and a missionary bulletin board, arranged attractively to acquaint students with needs and conditions on the foreign field.

The Student Missionary Band is divided into seven groups—Africa, China, India, South America, Jewish, Korea, and World. Each day one-half hour at noon is devoted to prayer for one of these fields. Each group meets separately from 3:00 to 4:00 o’clock Friday afternoon, and that evening the entire student body assembles for a missionary service.

During their pilgrimage here the students not only pray for missions, but help in the conquest by making pledge-offerings to the cause. Many have testified that the Lord has sent in money to pay pledges made in faith. The “Go Ye” of the Master rings in our ears, and as we Go, Give and Pray we hope to gather many precious sheaves to lay at His feet.
