I have gone over "The Young Minister's Guide," and I think it is a very fine work. — Dr. E. M. Millard, Pastor, Collinavale, Okla.

I have just finished reading and re-reading my copy of "The Young Minister's Guide." I like it for its concise arrangement. It gives much important information within the reach of every young minister. Chapters are completely included in which no other work contains them. I recommend it to all ministers.—Rev. A. A. Supervisor, Colo. City, Okla.

"The Guide" is very fine and I approve of it.—Joseph Z. Morrison, Greeley, Colorado.

Where They Are and What They Are Doing

Edward Allen is now living in San Antonio, Texas, where he is a member of the First Baptist Church. He is associated with the work of the Gospel Tabernacle, and is also a teacher in the San Antonio Bible Institute.

Robert L. McCutcheon

Tulsa, Oklahoma

Brother McCutcheon will be on the Faculty of Southeastern again this year.

Camilla Bishop and Kate Ware have been holding meetings in Arkansas, but recently Camilla Bishop has been with her parents at Woodstock, Oklahoma. This has afforded her a wonderful opportunity to learn Spanish, and to get better acquainted with our Missionary Brothers and work.

Edward Davis and wife (see Helen Harding) and Edward Harding and wife (see Lula Fote) have been in Kentucky. Bros. Davis did fine work as pastor in Caro and McCreary, Kansas, and Br. Harding taught school and preached at Moxie, Indiana.

Raymond Brook and wife (see Louise Fote) are now in a meeting at Philp, South Dakota. They were formerly at Rapid City, S. D.

Alma Hudson of Moline, Illinois, for a time was substitute for the pastor at La Grange, Texas, while the pastor was away.

Cecil McPherson is pastor at Pleasant Hill, Magna, thirty-five miles south of Kansas City.

W. B. McPherson

Pleasant Hill, Kansas.

Where They Are and What They Are Doing

Instantly Healed of Paralysis.

I am the Lord that healeth thee.

For the story of God I want to give this testimony to His healing power.

About 5 p.m., January 15, 1931, I was struck with paralysis, which rendered me so helpless that I could neither walk nor stand and all feeling left my face from my waist to my ears. My limbs were dead all over. I had lost literally some of God's people prayed for me, but I experienced no change. This was at Perry, Oklahoma, where I was pastor of a small Assembly. I took my friends to take me some evening to Enid, forty-one miles north west of Perry. We arrived about eleven o'clock that night, and found a friend in the Tabernacle of which P. C. Nelson was pastor. These friends prayed for me, but I was still helpless. The next night, after the service had been divided and more than half the congregation had gone, Pastor Nelson and several of the "prayer warriors" came around me and began to cry mightily to God for my healing.

This was a restless case, but after some time spent in importunate prayer, and I made a final surrender to God, the power of the Lord began to work in my body, and I felt a paralytic sensation going to my knees. The friends had left me on my feet, and I walked back to my knees, and pray again. This time I felt simultaneously feeling was restored to my knees, I limbed back to my feet, and I had felt as if I was standing where I had stood and I was able to walk. I ran down the broad aisle of the tabernacle, up a side aisle, and turned upon the platform and perfectly sound and well. Then I stood and gave God the glory for my healing (which was instantly and perfectly). This was a Friday night service.

The next morning I entered Southwestern Bible School to rest up for more efficient work in the ministry. When I was prepared I was sent to sell a human physician, as friends were
